Government agencies and public officials shall have the duty to disclose and make available for scrutiny, copying and reproduction in the manner provided by this Act, all information pertaining to official acts, transactions or decisions, as well as government research data used as a basis for policy development, subject to the exceptions enumerated under Section 7 of this Act, regardless of their physical form or format in which they are contained and by whom they were made.

SEC. 6. Presumption. – There shall be a legal presumption in favor of access to information. The request for information may be denied only if it clearly falls under the exceptions provided under this Act. Accordingly, government agencies shall have the burden of proving that the information requested is exempted from disclosure.

SEC. 7. Exceptions. – Access to information shall be granted unless:

(a) The information is specifically authorized to be kept secret under guidelines established by an executive order, and in fact properly classified pursuant thereto: Provided, That 1) The information directly relates to national security or defense and its revelation may cause grave damage to the national security or internal and external defense of the State; or 2) The information requested pertains to the foreign affairs of the Republic of the Philippines, when its revelation shall unduly weaken the negotiating position of the government in an ongoing bilateral or multilateral negotiation or seriously jeopardize the diplomatic relations of the Philippines with one or more states: Provided further, That the executive order shall specify the reasonable period after which the information shall be automatically declassified or subject to mandatory declassification review, and that any reasonable doubt as to classification and declassification shall be settled in favor of the right to information;
(b) The information consists of records of minutes and advice given and opinions expressed during decision-making or policy formulation, invoked by the Chief Executive to be privileged by reason of the impairment of the Chief Executive's deliberative process that would result from the disclosure thereof. Once policy has been formulated and decisions made, minutes and research data may be made available for disclosure unless they were made in executive session;

(c) The information requested pertains to internal and/or external defense, law enforcement, and border control, when the disclosure thereof would:

(i) unduly compromise or interfere with any legitimate military or law enforcement operation; or

(ii) unduly compromise or interfere with the prevention, detection or suppression of criminal activity, the effective implementation of immigration controls and border security; or

(iii) deprive a person of a right to a fair trial or an impartial adjudication; or

(iv) lead to the disclosure of the identity of a confidential source, including a government, or foreign agency or authority or any private institution which furnished information on a confidential basis, and, in the case of a record or information compiled by a law enforcement authority in the course of an investigation or by an agency conducting a lawful national security intelligence investigation, information furnished by a confidential source; or

(e) The information requested is obtained by any committee of either House of Congress in executive session;
(f) The information requested pertains to personal information of a natural person, whether from the public or the private sector, and its disclosure would constitute an unwarranted invasion of his or her personal privacy. This may include signatures, addresses, telephone numbers, identification numbers, family members, race or ethnicity, religion, health, education, sexual orientation, and similar information, unless such information is specifically required by law to be entered into an official record and made available to the public, or the person has consented in writing to the disclosure of the information. To the extent required to prevent an unwarranted invasion of personal privacy, an agency may redact such information from a record made available to the public. However, the justification for the deletion shall be explained fully in writing, and the extent of such deletion shall be indicated on the portion of the record which is made available or published;

(g) The information requested pertains to trade secrets and commercial or financial information or intellectual property obtained from a natural or juridical person other than the requesting party, whenever the revelation thereof would seriously prejudice the interests of such natural or juridical person in trade, industrial, financial or commercial competition;

(h) The information is classified as privileged communications in legal proceedings by law or by the Rules of Court, unless the person entitled to the privilege has waived it;

(i) The information requested is exempted by law or the Constitution, in addition to those provided in this section;

(j) The information is of a nature that its premature disclosure would, in the case of a government agency that regulates or deals with currencies, interest rates, securities, commodities, or financial institutions, likely lead to fraud, manipulation, or other unlawful acts or schemes involving currencies, interest rates, securities, or the commodities market or, in the case of other government agencies, likely frustrate the effective implementation of a proposed official action: Provided, That the information shall be accessible once the anticipated danger has ceased.

(k) The information has already been made accessible as provided for in Section 12.
For paragraphs (c) to (k) of this section, the determination whether any of these grounds shall apply shall be the responsibility of the head of office of the government agency in custody or control of the information, or any responsible central or field officer/s duly designated by him.

SEC. 8. Qualifications.

2. The exceptions cannot be invoked to cover-up a crime, wrongdoing, graft, or corruption;
3. Whenever the information covered by an exception may be reasonably severed from a record, the record shall be released with the exempt information redacted, or the information not covered by the exception shall otherwise be communicated to the requesting party;
4. The President, the Supreme Court, the Senate, the House of Representatives, and the Constitutional Commissions may waive an exception with respect to information in the custody of offices under their respective supervision or control, when they deem that there is an overriding public interest in disclosure; and
5. The exceptions do not constitute authority to withhold information from Congress, nor authority for the executive branch of a local government unit to withhold information from the legislative body of such local government unit.

party shall show a current identification document issued by any government agency, or government or private employer or school, or a community tax certificate. If the request is the information requested, provided that the mode and means are reasonable, taking into consideration equipment normally available to the concerned government agency.

(e) A government agency may communicate the information requested in a form other than the preferred means whenever such preferred means would unreasonably interfere with the effective operation of the agency, or if the agency has no capability in communicating the information in the preferred format, or when the preferred format may be detrimental to the preservation of the record.

(f) The government agency shall comply with such request as soon as practicable, and in any case within fifteen (15) working days from the receipt thereof. The period may be

(i) If the information is not held by the government agency from which the request was made, it shall notify the requesting party that it does not hold the information and indicate which agency holds the record, if known. SEC. 20. Notice of Denial. – If the government agency decides to deny the request, in whole or in part, it shall, as soon as practicable, and in any case within fifteen (15) working days from the receipt of the request, notify the person making the request of such denial in writing or through electronic means. The notice shall indicate the name, rank, title or position of the person making the denial, clearly set forth the ground or grounds for denial and the circumstances on which the denial is based, and indicate available rights of reconsideration or appeal. Failure to notify the person making the request of the denial, or of the extension, shall be deemed a denial of the request for access to information.

(1) A denial of a request for access to information may be appealed to the Head of Agency, following the procedure required under Section 17 (a) (8) of this Act: Provided, That the appeal must be filed within fifteen (15) calendar days from the receipt of the notice of denial and must be decided within fifteen (15) calendar days from filing. Failure to resolve the appeal within the aforementioned period shall constitute a denial of the appeal.
2 A person denied access to information may file a verified complaint with the Office of the 3 Ombudsman, praying that the government agency concerned be directed to immediately
4 afford access to the information being requested. The Office of the Ombudsman shall
5 promulgate its special rules of procedure for the immediate disposition of complaints filed
6 pursuant to this Section. Unless restrained or enjoined, the decisions of the Office of the 7 Ombudsman shall be immediately executory, without prejudice to review in accordance with 8 the Rules of Court.

9 (3) A party whose request for information has been denied, whether or not such decision has 10 been appealed to the Head of the Agency, may file a verified petition for mandamus in the 11 proper court, alleging the facts with certainty and praying that judgment be rendered ordering
12 the respondent, immediately or at some other time to be specified by the court, to disclose
13 the information and to pay the damages sustained by the requesting party by reason of the 14 denial. The procedure for such petition shall be summary in nature.

15 In resolving a complaint or petition brought under paragraphs (2) and (3) hereof, the 16 Ombudsman or the court is empowered to receive the information subject of a claim of 17 exception under Section 7 herein and examine them in camera to determine the sufficiency
18 of the factual and legal basis of such claim, when such sufficiency cannot be reasonably 19 determined through evidence and circumstances apart from the information.

20 (b) In the Judicial Branch – The Judiciary shall be governed by such remedies as 21 promulgated by the Supreme Court.

22 The remedies under this section shall be sought or granted without prejudice to any other
23 administrative, civil or criminal action covering the same act.

25 administrative remedies and the application of the provisions of Republic Act No. 9285,
